Felix

A photograph of three modern, grey upholstered armchairs with wooden legs, arranged in a row in a bright office space. The chairs are positioned in front of a large window that offers a view of a modern building and palm trees. Two large potted plants are visible on either side of the chairs. The word 'Felix' is overlaid in large white text across the upper part of the image.

Felix

The Felix chair is a stunning Scandinavian style product family brought to you by the Workspace Commercial Furniture design team that features a mid sized lounge, tub and chair option and oozes style and comfort. 100% designed and manufactured by Workspace, Felix is Australian made furniture at it's best.

After recognising a shift in the types and styles of lounge seating being specified across all sectors, Workspace, in consultation with clients and users alike, designed the Felix range to fit the "home away from home" that is on trend across the board.

This Scandinavian inspired range was designed to be robust and versatile without compromising the slim contoured lines, warm textures and overall comfort making this family of products suitable for a diverse range of applications.

All things have been considered to provide the most appropriate seating solution for multiple environments. From the dimensionality allowing for maximum support, comfort and ease of access to the removable seat pad (Lounge version only) for better cleaning and maintenance. The Felix range really does provide a solution to all your seating problems.

Boasting solid timber 4 leg, steel 4 leg (chair and tub) and sled base (lounge only), high quality upholstery and comfort to spare the Felix lounge is the perfect compliment to any space.
